CON NOTES

October 2017

Greetings, Members of the Regulated Community!

We apologize for taking a month off in September, but we are glad to bring you a new installment of CON Notes this month! In this edition, Program Staff want to draw your attention to one upcoming training, which we’ll share more information about, and one issue of increasing relevance and importance; project review meetings.

Maintaining CON Compliance After Issuance

We will host a training for the regulated community on Thursday, December 14, 2017 at 10:00AM in the People’s Auditorium at DHEC Headquarters, 2600 Bull Street, Columbia, SC 29201. This training will cover all of the regulatory requirements of a certificate holder including, but not limited to: reporting, implementation, and fulfillment. This training, while certainly not mandatory, will be a wonderful resource to you and we are very hopeful that you will be able to attend. More information will follow by email, so if you are not already registered for our e-blast system please let us know by email at coninfo@dhec.sc.gov.

Project Review Meetings

As you all know, project review meetings are often held in support of applications which receive opposition from affected persons. Recently, Program Staff have noted an increase in project review meeting requests which are accompanied by very limited reasoning for opposition. In order to make the project review process better for all concerned parties, the Department will soon require detailed reasoning for project review requests in order to determine if the grounds for opposition are sufficient to warrant a project review meeting. As the timing if this rollout is formalized, we will communicate with you via email with an updated Standard Operating Procedure for project review meetings where you will find the new requirements outlined in detail. Should you have any questions before or after the rollout, we are always available to assist you. Program Staff contact information is found at the end of this update document.
