your baby needs 39 WEEKS

If your pregnancy is healthy it’s best to stay pregnant for at least 39 weeks.

The last few weeks of pregnancy are essential because:

• Important organs like the brain & lungs are still growing.

• Babies born early are more likely to have learning or behavior problems later in life.

• Full-term babies are less likely to have vision or hearing problems.

• Cesarian section, or C-section, is major surgery for Mom.

• Babies born early are more at risk for Sudden Infant Death Syndrome.

Remember when it comes to having a healthy baby - every week counts!

South Carolina Birth Outcomes Initiative - BOI

To learn more go to:

www.scdhec.gov/mch

www2.scdhhs.gov/organizations/BOI

www.marchofdimes.com/pregnancy